Re: Civil Society Rejection and Call for Withdrawal of the Proposed Merger of UN Women and UNFPA under UN80

Dear Mr. Secretary-General,

We write to you as a group of feminist and women's rights civil society organizations that have long been engaged with the UN system and have followed the UN80 reform process since it began, to express our strong opposition to the proposed merger of UN Women and UNFPA, ahead of your expected report and the decisions on Workstream 3 that will move forward in the coming months.

We are in favour of a reformed UN that delivers better and more effectively for the people it serves. We also fully acknowledge the current constraints that underpin your proposal, including the threats posed by anti-rights actors working to reverse hard-won gains on gender equality and the historic decline in Official Development Assistance. As organizations working at the grassroots, regional, and global levels, we live the consequences of these converging pressures every day. However, to date, no evidence has been provided that the proposed merger will address these challenges.

For fourteen months, the UN leadership has pushed for the merger of UN Women and UNFPA without answering the one question civil society, Member States, including a majority of members in the UNFPA and UN Women Executive Boards, keep asking: is a structural merger the only pathway to face these constraints and strengthen the gender equality architecture of the UN?

Both the merger assessment and civil society's evidence have reached the same conclusion: the proposed merger poses significant risks, and could deepen the very challenges it is intended to address. These include risks to donor confidence and resource mobilization, operational continuity in humanitarian and development settings, and most importantly, the erosion of hard-won mandates for both agencies. Nowhere does the assessment, or any paper since, explain why these challenges are best answered by building one larger, more exposed target rather than protecting two mandates whose distinctiveness has, until now, been treated as a strength. No evidence has been produced that a merger would lead to significant cost-savings. Instead, considerable resources have now been devoted to justifying this proposal at a time of severe fiscal constraint. A decision of this magnitude must be grounded in evidence, not assumptions.

There has been no serious consideration of alternatives, including a comparison based on clear benchmarks and indicators of the merger proposal against non-structural reforms. Most importantly, no evidence has been presented that demonstrates that a proposed merger would accelerate progress towards gender equality and the realization of the human rights of women and girls in all their diversity.

Many of the challenges this reform now seeks to address are long-standing UN systemwide issues that could have been eased over the past decade through stronger alignment, collaboration, and resourcing. Addressing them calls for honest, shared reflection on how the system as a whole has fallen short on gender equality. These are shortcomings that extend beyond the accountability and efficiency of the agencies in question.

Mr. Secretary-General, as a self-described “feminist-in-chief,” we urge you to listen to the women and girls around the world, and think about what this decision means to them, and to the future of multilateralism. Pushing through an irreversible structural change that could severely impact gender equality and the rights of women and girls, including SRHR, without the confidence of the Executive Boards, without a credible evidence-based assessment, and without the meaningful participation of the constituencies most affected, would place the weight of that risk on the women and girls this system exists to serve. We believe you can choose a different path.

We therefore are calling on you to withdraw your proposal to merge UN Women and UNFPA. Instead, we call for serious institutional consideration of non-structural alternatives to ensure the UN delivers for gender equality and the human rights of women and girls – an approach that does not focus only on these two agencies but examines the role of the entire system. And we call for meaningful participation of critical stakeholders in this process, including feminist, women’s rights, and gender equality organizations at all levels.

We remain committed to a reformed and effective UN. We will continue to mobilize alongside women and girls in all their diversity and to work with Member States to ensure that no reform about us is carried out without us. We remain equally willing to engage constructively and to continue this dialogue with your Office at any time.

Respectfully,
Feminist Cross-Coalition & Civil Society Organizations
